About the Children's Trust

The Children's Trust leads efforts to stop child abuse in Massachusetts. Our community-based programs partner with parents to provide support, build skills, and connect families with resources to ensure safe and healthy childhoods.

Our mission is accomplished through a network of more than one hundred of the state's most innovative and effective organizations. Through these partnerships, the Children's Trust provides research-based models, training, evaluation, and advocacy to help children and families thrive.

Funding generated from the gala is vital to advancing strategic priorities, including:

- Family support and education
- Fatherhood program initiatives
- Advocacy and public awareness

Our Honoree

This year, the Children's Trust gratefully honors Suzin Bartley, executive director of thirty years who is retiring in June 2022. Her tireless leadership, dedication, and advocacy have positively impacted the lives of countless children and families across Massachusetts and the United States.

Suzin's remarkable legacy includes creating and leading one of the most successful home-based parent coaching programs in the country, developing a network of center-based family support programs, expanding professional training and education, and launching a nationally recognized fatherhood initiative. Each remains vital today to helping families and the professionals who work with them. Suzin also serves as co-chair of the Massachusetts Legislative Task Force on the Prevention of Child Sexual Abuse and vice president of the board for Friends for Children.
